

Dr. Joseph Gbanabom Conteh

Dr. Joseph Gbanabom Conteh is a highly accomplished professional with over a decade of experience in project management, education, nonprofit organizations, and healthcare services. A versatile expert in Agile methodologies, he excels in frameworks such as Scrum, Kanban, and SAFe, leveraging them to drive continuous quality performance and customer satisfaction. Dr. Conteh holds a Ph.D. in Public Policy and Administration with a concentration in Health Policy from Walden University, where he also earned a Post-Master's Certificate in Online Teaching in Higher Education. His diverse academic qualifications include an MPA and MBA from DeVry University, a B.Sc. in Sociology, and a Graduate Diploma in Education from Fourah Bay College, University of Sierra Leone. Dr. Conteh has extensive teaching, consulting, and direct support experience, having served as a university administrator, consultant for ministries of health in Sierra Leone and Liberia, and a program manager in behavioral health organizations. His work has focused on curriculum development, healthcare policy evaluation, strategic planning, and community empowerment, and he has authored a dissertation on healthcare disparities in rural Sierra Leone. A certified professional in various fields, including healthcare policy and Scrum mastery, Dr. Conteh is also a published researcher, advocate for marginalized communities, and recipient of numerous honors for leadership and academic excellence. With certifications in healthcare public policy, Agile methodologies, and vulnerability management, Dr. Conteh combines expertise in policy analysis, project management, and education. A prolific author, he has published works on healthcare, wellness, and professional development, reflecting his dedication to advancing knowledge and practical solutions for global challenges.